THE MONTHLY NEWSLETTER OF HILLSIDE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
JULY 2017 – VOLUME 62 NO 7

Friends, July brings many opportunities for growth and service, and I am excited to recommend them to you. First off, we have been expanding our work with Neighbor to Neighbor, a local ministry that designed to show love to the youth of our neighbors in the West Main Hill area.

We are looking for people who might be interested in spending time with neighborhood children (once or on a recurring basis) to: do a craft/art project, teach a skill, read a chapter of a book (and as questions about it, lead a Bible lesson, etc. There might also be a need to provide lunch for the children or dinner for the staff. Anyone interested in volunteering their time or talents, please plan on attending a volunteer interest meeting after worship on July 9th. Come see what you can do to get involved in this exciting ministry!

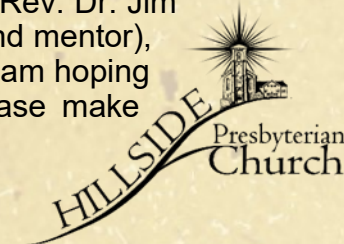

No less important, although often taken for granted, is the New Wilmington Mission Conference. People travel from around the world and all over the country to attend the longest-running mission conference in the U.S., and it is practically in our back yard. The conference will run from July 22-29. For full details, visit www.nwmcmission.org, but you can hear Rodger Nishioka (one of Andrea's doctoral mentors) every morning at 11. You can hear Jim Singleton (one of my doctoral mentors and our guest preacher on July 23) every morning at 8:45. Not to mention a different keynote speaker every evening at 6:45, including the summer service team on Friday, July 28. There are missionaries, national level ministry leaders, and disciples learning and growing together in Jesus' name. If you're interested in going all week, the conference has commuter rates available, but if you're just interested in going down to check it out for one or two events, it is absolutely free. The theme this year is "work for the well-being of the city where I have sent you," and I highly recommend you take the time to check it out at least once during the week!

Finally, I want to remind everyone once again that we have invited the folks at First Pres, Greenville to join us for worship at 11AM on July 23rd, where we will have the Rev. Dr. Jim Singleton, a nationally-recognized speaker and teacher (and my personal friend and mentor), as our guest preacher. We will serve refreshments before and after worship, and I am hoping that we can demonstrate what Hillside's legendary hospitality is all about. Please make plans to be there that Sunday for yet another exciting growth opportunity!

In the love of Christ,
Pastor Sean

Every group, committee, and organization in the church is encouraged to speak with the Communication & Technology committee about making a brief promotional video to highlight what your group does, and why others should consider joining you. We hope to make the videos this summer in advance of our fall kickoff.

MORNING CIRCLE

18 ladies met at the church for Circle. Hosts were Janet Kirk and Janie Lindemuth.

Rev. Ray Brugler taught the Bible Study, “Who is Jesus?”. Ray feels it is time to give up teaching our Bible Study. He taught us faithfully for many years. We really appreciate all the time he sent teaching us. He will truly be missed.

Sue Mathieson chaired the business meeting. We are in need of a Bible Study leader. Please keep this need in your prayers. A motion was made and carried to send a $100.00 donation to the Sudan.

Pies will be needed for the Presbytery meeting hosted by Hillside Church on June 27.

Sue closed the meeting with prayer.

We extend a grateful thanks to Jerry Gill for continuing to take care of our lawn. Your time and diligence in maintaining its wonderful appearance is very much appreciated.
